

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. P R E F A C E.

A PART of the County Genealogies having been published, (the Pedigrees of the Kentish Families,) it would have been superfluous to have introduced any prefatory remarks to the other Counties, had the whole series been generally taken by Subscribers; but as some of them feel interested only in their own immediate County, or in that and the Counties adjacent, it is necessary to repeat, with each Part, the remarks that are applicable to the whole.

With respect to the County of Sussex, the following series of Genealogies contain the whole of the Pedigrees entered at the Visitation made, in 1633, by Sir Richard St. George, Clarenceux, and Sir John Burrough, Norroy, by their Deputies, John Philipot, Somerset Herald, and George Owen, York Herald, which, like most of the Heraldic Collections of that early period, is very deficient in point of dates, and other particulars; nor were the Heralds of those times, by any means, infallible, as repeated inaccuracies occur in them: indeed, in so very slovenly a manner were these duties performed, that many of the Pedigrees are wholly without date; and where they so occur, in the following Collection, it must be inferred that the persons mentioned at the latter part of the entry were living at the time of such Visitation.

Where additions could be made to the Pedigrees in the Visitation, from the Manuscripts in the British Museum, or other Collections of equally good authority, these Pedigrees have been considerably augmented; and most of the principal Gentry of the County have not only furnished Genealogies of their own Families to the present time, but many of them have kindly and readily contributed others from their private collections, in order to render the Work as complete as possible, and of the greatest general utility; for, although it may be argued that these Pedigrees are not of themselves sufficient legal proof to establish the claims of kindred set forth in them, yet their importance must be admitted, as affording a ready clue to such necessary proof, whenever the same should be required, as they generally point out the places of nativity, baptisms, marriages, and burials, and such other legal documents as localities will otherwise afford: and it may be asked, are the modern Entries in the Heralds' College more accurate, or of any better authority? or would the one require any less proof than the other?—And it is self-evident, that the printing of two hundred and fifty copies is a much safer record than one manuscript entry.

This Work, which was intended to have been confined solely to the Pedigrees of the Gentry of the County, (an account of the Peers and Baronets being already recorded in printed Peerages and Baronetages, and various other ways,) contains, nevertheless, the Genealogies of many of the Peers and Baronets, originally Sussex Families, prior to their creations; and where they are not brought down to the present period, it was thought better to refer generally to the Peerage and Baronetage, than to swell out the Work unnecessarily with what might be deemed superfluous.

Such have been the sources from which this series of Sussex Pedigrees has been collected, which being taken from compilations as accurately got together, no doubt, as circumstances at the time would admit; and the more recent Genealogies, traced down to the present time, having been furnished by the existing branches of the families themselves, from records in their own possession; the whole may fairly claim the credit of as much general accuracy as can be found in such collections: nor can it be reasonably expected that the Editor should take upon himself to vouch further for their correctness, as he does not pretend to have drawn them out himself, nor is it possible that he could have done so, as the longest life would scarcely be sufficient to accomplish the compilation of such a series of Pedigrees: even the errata (not strictly typographical) ought not to be laid to his charge, the sole responsibility which attaches to him being the collection of them from the best authority—the arrangement—and the printing—a task of no ordinary magnitude, filling up, in a great measure, the chasm of time since the period of the Visitations to the present day.

A List of the Sheriffs of the County, from the time of Henry II. to the present year, 1830, will be found prefixed to the Work, which may be useful to refer to; and complete Indexes are added, not only of the Pedigrees, but also of the several Matches in them, for more ready reference.

In closing these prefatory remarks, the Editor begs most gratefully to acknowledge the politeness with which he was every where received by the resident Nobility and Gentry, in his personal visits throughout the County, who not only patronized the Work as Subscribers, but very kindly contributed from their own Manuscripts, to render it what it professes to be—a Collection of valuable Family Documents.

 † This THOMAS HONYWOOD alienated land at or near Horsham, still known by the name of "Honywood's."

HONYWOOD, of Horsham, co. Sussex.

This family first settled in Kent, deriving their name from the manor of Honewood, in the parish of Postling, where they resided at the time of the Conquest, and where also WILLIAM DE HONEWOOD, or HONYWOOD, (as the name was afterwards written,) resided in the reign of Henry I. and where he died in the reign of Henry II.

EDMUND DE HONYWOOD, who also resided there, is recorded in the Ledger-book of the Priory of Horton, (founded for Monks of the Benedictine Order, and made subordinate to the establishment at Lewes,) to have been a liberal benefactor in the reign of Henry III. and his descendant, JAMES DE HONYWOOD, was raised to the government of that order in England, being made Prior of Lewes in the reign of Henry V. several centuries after the first benefactor to the Priory of Horton, which is the only record of any of the DE HONYWOOD'S residing in Sussex, until the 24th Elizabeth, when RICHARD HONYWOOD settled in Horsham.

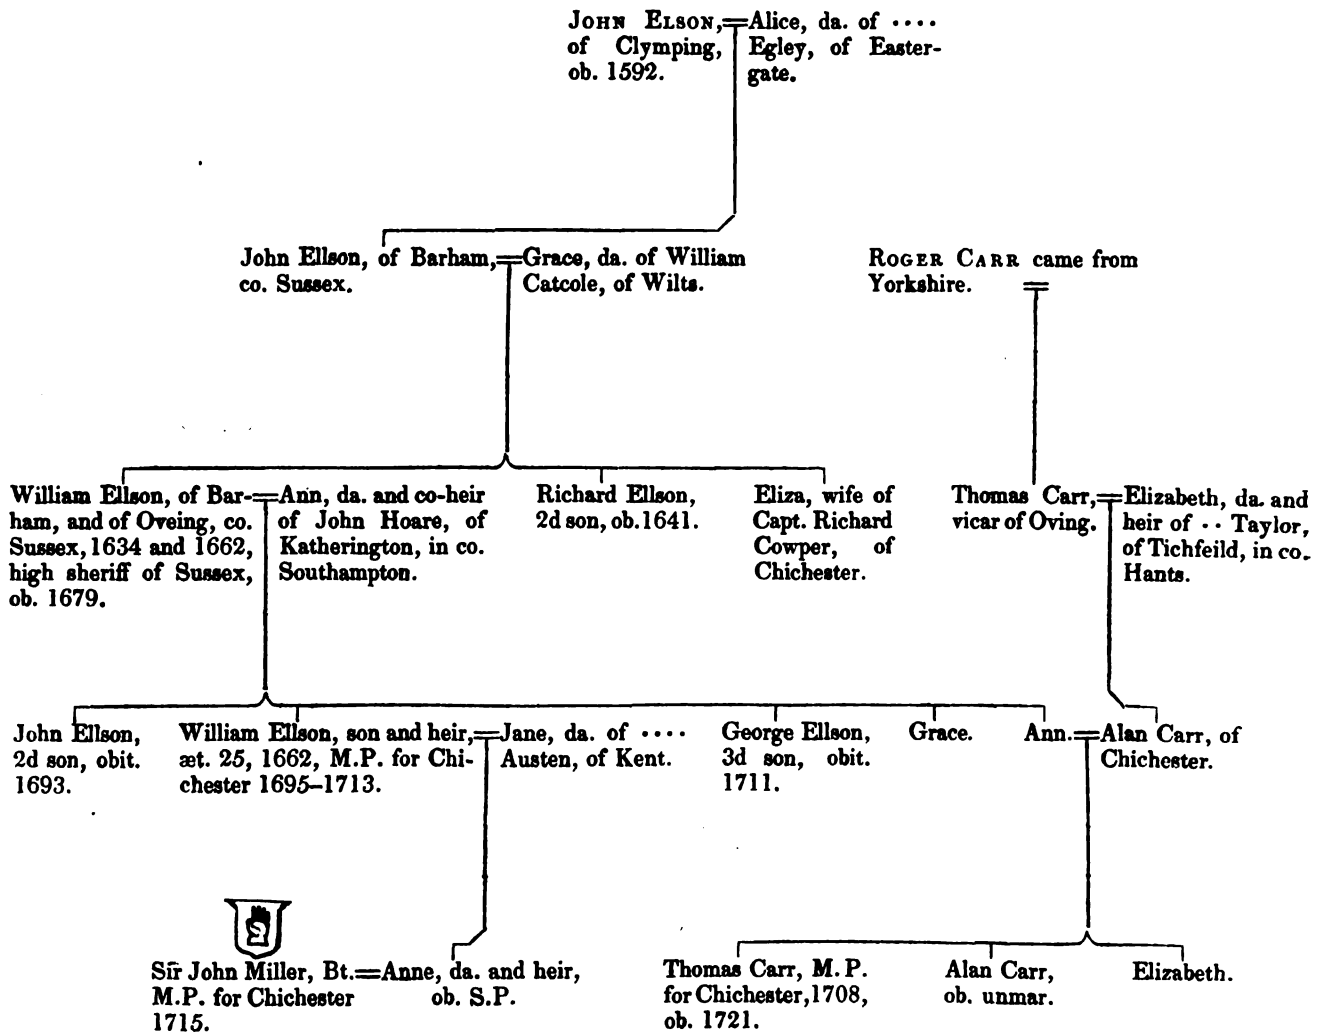

JOHN DE HONYWOOD resided at Hythe, for which port he served in parliament, the 20th Richard II. and THOMAS DE HONYWOOD was likewise member for that port, 29th Henry VI. The family subsequently settled at Charing, in Kent, and at Markshall, in Essex.

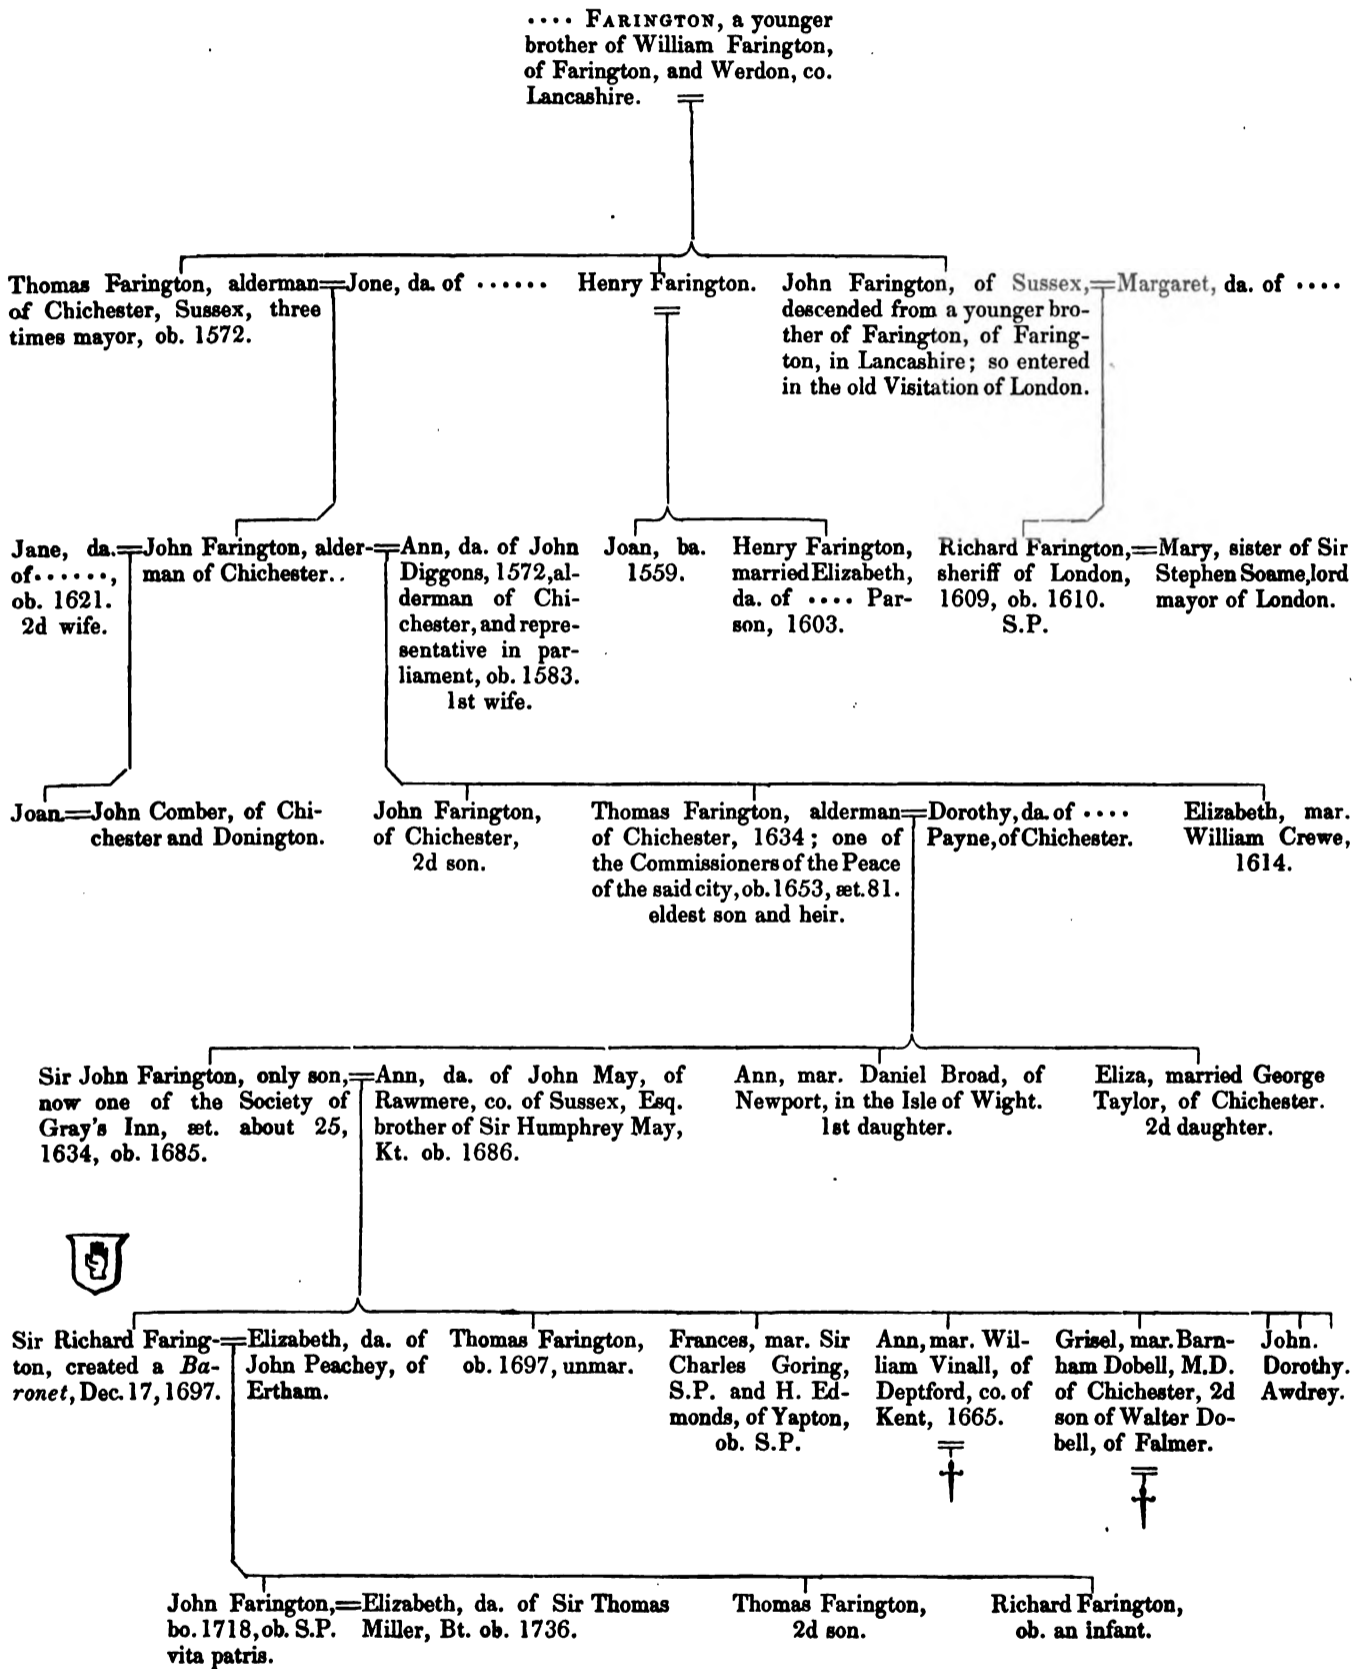

* This RICHARD HONYWOOD sold land of good value in Nuthurst, Sussex. His ancestors had other property in Horsham, and, never having been alienated by him, are still retained by the family.

The earlier descents of this pedigree are taken from an original pedigree in the possession of the family, under the hand and seal of office of Sir William Segar, principal King of Arms, transcribed by John Phillipot, Blanch-lion, and entitled "This descent of the auintient familie of the Curteises, in the Countie of Kent, gentlemen, faithfullie collected out of the Office of Arms, the publike records of the kingdome, private evidences of this familie, and other venerable monuments of antiquitie." In which pedigree, and also in several old MSS. in the Harleian collection in the British Museum, the arms of the family are given as annexed, without reference to any grant, and, consequently, as borne by them in virtue of ancient usage; and in the same pedigree, opposite the coat of Le Sargent impaling Curteis, is the following note:—"These armes were remayneing in glasse in a windowe one the south syde of Romeny church in the year 1612, and the name written under which in a very ould hand;" and opposite the coat of Curteis (as given here) annexed to Reginald of Westcliffe is the following note:—"Memorandum, that these armes are to be seene in the rooffe of the cloysters of Christchurch, in Canterbury." Also in the Lord Cobham's pedigree, I find them thus described in their true coullors and testified under the hand of Robert Glover, alias Somerset, Harrold of Armes. And opposite to the coat of Curteis, impaling Twaights and Segrave, is the following note:—"In the chappell that belongs to the manner of Esture, in Chilham church, these armes remayne in glasse, and the names written underneath."

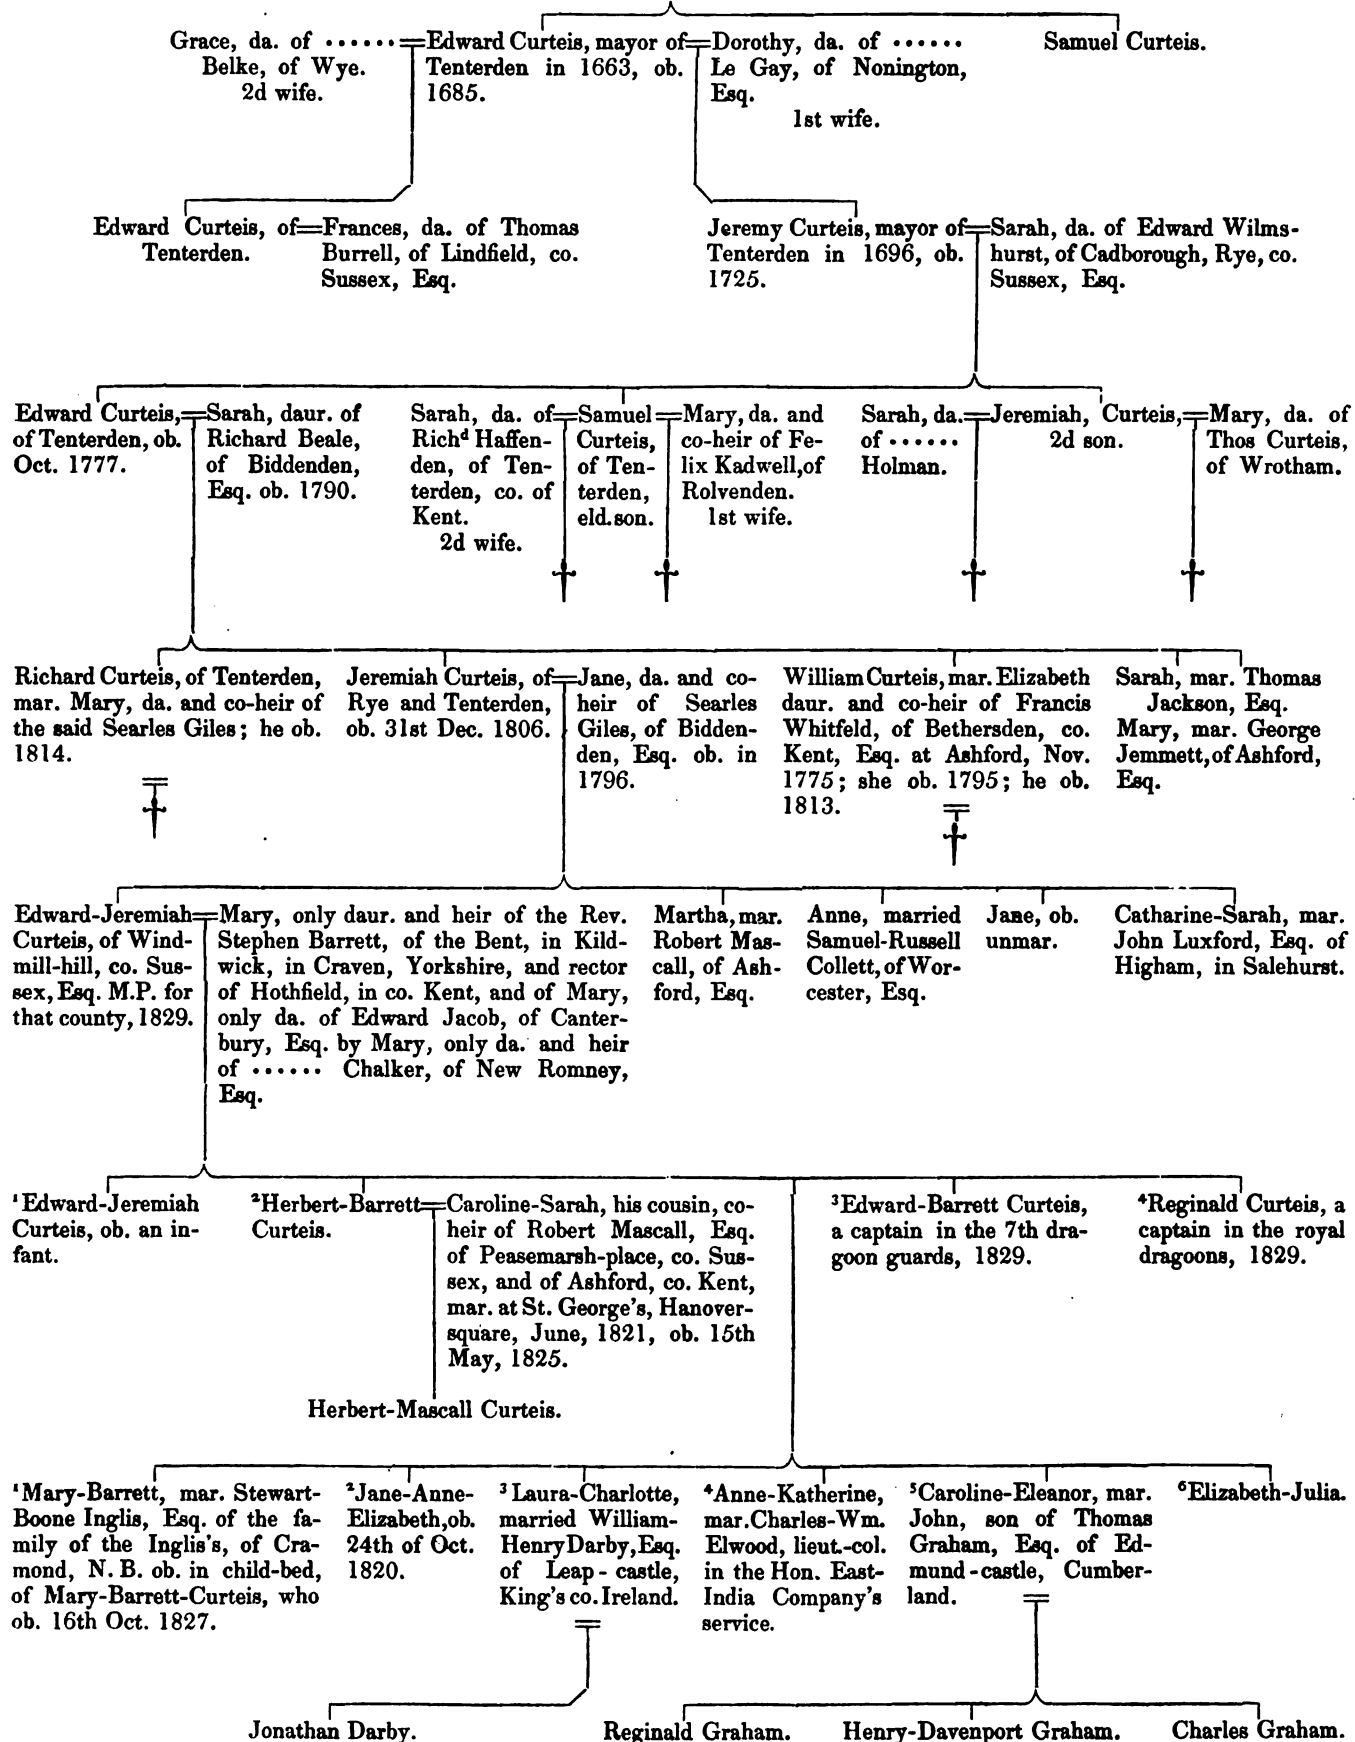

The later descents are compiled from the Heraldic Visitations of the county, papers in the Harleian collection, wills in the ecclesiastical courts, and the registers and funeral monuments of the family in the parishes of Tenterden, Otterden, Chart-Sutton, Maidstone, Wrotham, Sevenoaks, Ashford, &c.—See Ellis's Agincourt and Bray's Surrey.

EDWARD-JEREMIAH CURTEIS, Esq. of Windmill-hill, co. Sussex, the present M.P. for that county, and his father, JEREMIAH CURTEIS, of Rye and Tenterden, co. Kent, were the first of this family who fixed their abode in the co. of Sussex.

WIMBLE.

Arms.—Erm. on a pile gu. a Lion of England in chief, and a wimble in base; over all a fesse, chequy, or and az. thereon two escallops sa.

Crest.—A demi lion rampant, chequy, or and az. supporting an ancient shield gu. charged with the chemical character for Mars gold.

Motto.—Providentia Dei, Hereditas mea.

Note.—The above armorial ensigns were granted, with the honorable distinction of the Lion of England, to Mr. Nehemiah Wimble, of Lewes, and his descendants, to commemorate the visit with which their Majesties King William the Fourth and his Queen Adelaide honoured that Borough, on the 10th of October, 1830, and were pleased to use the ancient Mansion belonging to, and in the occupation of, the said Nehemiah Wimble, called "the Friars," in which their Majesties were received by the Members in Parliament, and other public authorities of the Borough, and were graciously pleased to allow the said Nehemiah Wimble and his wife, on that occasion, personally to pay their dutiful respects to their Majesties.

The bearing of the Lion of England being confined to the coat-armor of the said Nehemiah Wimble and his issue, the Arms, (with the wimble borne in chief, instead of the lion,) together with the Crest, to be borne by the other descendants of his late father, John Wimble, deceased.—See PEDIGREE, page 60.

SUSSEX GENEALOGIES.

ERRATA.

Page	Descent
24— two last descents, Elizabeth, only child of Rev. George Newton, mar. William-Courthope Mabbott, Esq. of Uckfield; and Adria, daughter of Apsley Newton, mar. James Barton, M.D. and died his widow, S.P. 2d Jan. 1804, and did not marry W.C. Mallott, as there stated.
96 4 Robert, the 3d son, of John Alchorne and Alice Walsingham, it is supposed, mar. Mary Buckhurst, and not Robert, the son of John and Mary Crispe, and had issue as stated.
99 4 Sarah Simmons should be Sarah Gouldsmith and Sarah Willsher should be Sarah Golding.
109— between 6th and 7th descents, the following descent omitted:—John Bridger, who mar. Mary White, had issue Sir John Bridger, of Combe-place, who mar. a coheiress of Eliot, and had issue Lady Bridger and her sister Frances.
190 7 Robert Bellingham, who mar. Christiana De Burshead, had issue Robert, who mar. Margaret Salkeld, and had issue Richard, (by mistake made son of Robert and Christiana,) which Richard had issue Robert, (by mistake made his brother,) who mar. Elizabeth Tunstall.
—12 for Margaret, mar. Samuel Boys, read Richard.
340 3 for Lyston, read System.
